

長崎大学グローバルリスク研究センター
Nagasaki University
Research Center for Global Risk

Crises, Heritage, and Societal Resilience

Faculty of Education Room 23, Nagasaki University Bunkyo Campus

14 December 2024, 12:40 – 17:30

Organized by:

JSPS (KAKENHI Grant Numbers 20H01460 and 23K25478), the International Research Center for Japanese Studies (Nichibunken), and Research Center for Global Risk at Nagasaki University

Commemorating the publication of Contesting Memorial Spaces of Japan's Empire (Bloomsbury 2024), this Workshop will provide an opportunity to reflect on the role of heritage and memorialization in response to crisis. Discussion will focus on contemporary memorializations of the past, materializations in the present, and the heritage futures to which such practices give rise.

12:40 – 14:30 Campus War Memorial Tour guided by Keiko Nakamura & Akihiro Iwashita

14:30 – 14:35 Introduction and Goals
Edward Boyle (Nichibunken, Japan)

14:35 – 15:55 Community Crises and Regional Responses
Steven Ivings (Kyoto University, Japan)
Emily Matson (Georgetown University, USA)
Daniel Milne (Kyoto University, Japan)

DISCUSSANT: Goto Seiko (Research Center for Global Risk, Nagasaki University)

16:05 – 17:25 Geo-political Heritage
Jonathan Bull (Hokkaido University, Japan)
Maria Cynthia B. Barriga (Hitotsubashi University, Japan)
Edward Boyle (Nichibunken, Japan)

DISCUSSANTS: Radomir Compel (Research Center for Global Risk, Nagasaki University)
Keiko Nakamura (Research Center for Nuclear Weapons Abolition)

17:25 – 17:30 Reflections and Wrap-up
Akihiro Iwashita (Research Center for Global Risk, Nagasaki University)